Job Description

The Department of Mathematics at the University of Kentucky invites applicants for a full-time Lecturer position to begin August 16, 2018. The initial contract is for two years and may be renewed indefinitely, subject to performance. Lecturers are eligible for promotion to the rank of Senior Lecturer after a minimum of 5 years. Lecturers are vital to the teaching mission of the mathematics department. The Lecturer will teach primarily first year mathematics courses as well as some second and third year courses and perform administrative duties associated with the lower-division mathematics program. Lecturers have responsibility for developing the curriculum in our first year service courses. Lecturers will normally teach three courses per semester and carry out administrative duties.

Applicants should have completed the Ph.D. degree by the time the appointment begins. Applicants must submit the following: cover letter, curriculum vitae, a statement on teaching experience (upload as Specific Request 1), and evidence of effective teaching (upload as Specific Request 2).
