Georgia Southern University was founded in 1906 as a school for teaching modern agricultural production techniques and homemaking skills to rural school children. Its Savannah campus was established in 1935 as Armstrong Junior College for local youth who could not afford to attend college away from home. The Liberty Center in Hinesville was established in 1998 to serve the military and their families at nearby Fort Stewart, the largest military base east of the Mississippi. All three locations came together in 2018 when Armstrong State University and Georgia Southern University consolidated. The "new" Georgia Southern University preserves a passion for serving its neighbors while preparing students for lifelong service as scholars, leaders, and responsible stewards of their communities.

Within this setting, the Department of Geology & Geography is actively engaged and committed to inclusivity and diversity in undergraduate and graduate education, research, and service. The Department offers undergraduate degrees in both Geology and Geography, a graduate degree in Applied Geography, and minors in Geographic Information Systems (GIS), Geology, and Geography. A core mission of the Department is to advance excellence in undergraduate education and service to the institution. To this end, the individual hired will be expected to contribute to the teaching and service components of the Department's mission.

Position Description. Reporting to the Department Chair, the Geology lecturer position requires a combination of teaching experience and minimum of a master's degree in Geology or a closely related discipline. The position is a non-tenure-track, 10-month appointment; the salary is competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Required Qualifications:

- * Earned master's degree (or higher) in geology, or a closely related field with at least 18 graduate semester hours in geology, by August 1, 2020.
- * Ability to teach lecture and laboratory sections of introductory-level physical and environmental geology.
- * Engagement with institutional student success initiatives
- * Commitment to engaging with best practice initiatives in instruction and pedagogy, mentoring, and curriculum design and development.
- * Must be authorized to work in the United States for the duration of employment without assistance from the institution.
