faculty to fill curricular needs on a part-time basis and maintains a pool of candidates for temporary part-time positions as the need arises. This position is continuously open and qualified persons will be selected to teach undergraduate courses/labs as the need arises. Appointments are usually made on a semester-by-semester basis. Positions are renewable, contingent upon need and performance.

Responsibilities

Immediate-Fall 2021: The Department of Chemistry is looking for faculty to teach Biochemistry I, an Advanced Inorganic Chemistry laboratory, General Chemistry I, II laboratories.

Continuing need: Teaching one or more sections of chemistry lecture and/or lab lower-division courses in analytical, general, and organic chemistry. Laboratory courses typically run between 2 PM and 8 PM in three-hour intervals. Availability for both afternoon and evening labs is preferred. Lectures vary in time but are mostly taught during the day.

Qualifications

Ph.D. in chemistry required. Prior teaching experience is preferred. The department is committed to broadening the participation of under-represented groups in STEM fields. We seek candidates interested in promoting meaningful interactions between students and faculty that help our majors develop both knowledge and confidence in the professional practice of science regardless of their background or outgoing career trajectory. Successful completion of an employment and/or criminal history background check is required.
