Job Description

The Department of Biology at Tufts University is seeking a part-time non-tenure track instructor to teach an in-person mid-level course in Cell Biology for undergraduate Biology majors (Bio 46 - Cell Biology) in Spring 2023 (Jan - mid-May). The course presents basic concepts of cellular organization, function, and regulation. Topics may include molecular/biochemical research methods used in the study of protein structure and function, gene expression and regulation, signal transduction, intracellular transport, and cell communication. Prerequisites: a semester of college biology, or permission of instructor. Enrollment is usually 60-80 students. Virtual accommodation of students who are unable to attend in person sessions due to illness may be necessary.
