American-style educational system. Applicants should demonstrate a robust research background, as evidenced by high-quality publications in leading peer-reviewed journals. Successful candidates will be expected to maintain an active and productive research agenda, supervise senior research projects, secure external research funding and participate in international collaborations. Candidates must also provide evidence of excellence in teaching across all levels of the curriculum and demonstrate strong proficiency in English communication.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: A complete application must include two PDF files. The first file should contain the following: a cover letter, the candidate's curriculum vitae with contact information for three references, a research statement and a teaching statement that includes a list of courses the candidate has taught or is qualified to teach. The second file should contain transcripts of both undergraduate and graduate education (initial scanned copies are acceptable). The references will be required to submit letters of recommendation that evaluate the applicant's research capabilities, with at least one specifically addressing the applicant's teaching abilities.

For full consideration, applications must be received by December 1, 2025. Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted. Positions are open until filled. Apply at <https://acg-apps1.aus.edu/cas/empapp/apply.php?p=PHY-26-01>.
